Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my keen interest in the Associate Product Manager, Intern position at Duolingo. As a student that was pursuing a Bachelor's in Computer Science], with an expected graduation in Spring 2025, I am deeply enthusiastic about Duolingo's mission to make the best education universally available. Having been a user of the Duolingo platform, I have firsthand experience with its impact and have often been inspired by its innovative approach to language learning.

During my academic years, I have led numerous projects which required me to work closely with teams, assimilating user insights, and making fact-based decisions. These experiences have not only sharpened my leadership skills but have also imbued me with an understanding of creating simple and intuitive user experiences. My coursework, coupled with my personal interest in data analytics, has provided me with the acumen to delve deep into user behavior, and derive actionable insights, aligning perfectly with the responsibilities outlined for this role.

What excites me most about this position is the opportunity to lead a specific feature of the app, right from its ideation to its release. The idea of working on projects that can potentially improve teaching Asian languages or tap into emerging markets is immensely appealing to me. The possibility of collaborating with world-class minds at Duolingo and contributing to over half a billion learners worldwide is a dream opportunity for any budding product manager.

Lastly, I believe that education, powered by technology, can bridge gaps and make the world a more connected place. I am confident that my innovative spirit, combined with my technical background, aligns seamlessly with Duolingo's values and objectives.

Thank you for considering my application. I am eager to further discuss how I can contribute to the Duolingo team and make a positive impact. I look forward to the possibility of an interview.

Warm regards,
Divyesh Vishwakarma
